United Colours Of Benjamin Ryan

The BEST NEW COLOURS to consider this winter

This season's hottest colour trends

The Low-Down

Summer highlights are getting deepened for winter with rich honey and caramel lowlights the preferred hues. The end result is an overall richer and warmer look.

Our Colour Technician Paige suggests moving away from beachy and over processed blonde highlights, to a more harmonious balance of light brown and softer blonde. Not too drastic or brash, and it looks incredible on an array of skin tones.

Cozy Brunettes

In winter, brunettes like Anne Hathaway add a touch of cozy glamour to their medium to light brown hair by adding a tint of amber and rich honey highlights.

Perfect for those duller days, these colour combinations give off a hint of lightness whilst staying true to the brunette legacy.

Throw Some Shade

For the colder months our style advice to brunettes is to go for more a subtle, varied tone with your locks.

Those with particularly darker colours like chocolate brown can soften their look by adding sandy brown highlights - a lustrous lift from those wintry blues.

Bright Lights

"Blondes in the winter months can actually go even brighter with a lighter pop at the hairline," explains Ellis, our Master Colour Technician. "It gives such a lift when there is no sun to do it naturally."

Contrary to what's expected, our colour experts recommend making highlights brighter in the winter to give off a sun-kissed illusion. Celebrate the season in style by going bold and vibrant!

Warm Reds

The red of the season is far from your typical va-va voom ginger. Take your red hair to the next level by adding radiant coppers and burgundy reds as undertones. Think crimson queen as epitomised by Debra Messing and Emma Stone.

These colours are great for adding a softer glow as your skin tone gets paler throughout the winter months.

Bring It Back

World-class HARLEY STREET hair transplant surgeons team up with BRH

New Year, New You

For treating hair loss, medication and laser therapy may be helpful, but a hair transplant is the only permanent solution to hair loss.

A FUE HAIR TRANSPLANT is the modern hair transplant technique, which is extremely popular with celebrity clientele. The procedure is minimally invasive without stitches or any kind of linear scar left behind (which is the case in previous methods). Recovery is extremely quick and your procedure will be virtually undetectable in terms of incision markings, making the treatment so popular.

This award-winning treatment is carried out by surgeons who are highly qualified and skilled in FUE. Renowned worldwide for their exceptional results, Dr Michail Mouzakis and Mr Doraisami Mohan, have been perfecting their FUE technique since 2008, providing natural-looking and densely packed hair grafts implanted in the same direction the hair grows.

Committed to excellence in service as well as results, they are dedicated to delivering outstanding care, aftercare and service for clients, at every stage of your transplant journey. Their state-of-the-art clinic in Birmingham is the perfect place to give your hair a whole new lease of life.

PRESS

BRH does Riviera Chic

This June, our Creative Director Nancy travelled to the French Riviera to do the hair and make up for swimwear brands Monica Hansen and Mister Zimi

Shooting swimwear in Juan Les Pins, in Antibes, the vibe for the hair and make up was pure 'Brigitte Bardot meets classic 80's Rockstar'. For Monica Hansen, model Josefine Justetsen's fringe was softly tapered and powdery waves added a touch of carefree, beach bronze glamour.

For Mister Zimi's campaign Nancy prepped model Magdalena's hair with Kerastase Aura Botanica 'Eau De Vagues' before lightly tonging it into soft waves to give a flowing texture with hold.

To check out our stylish endeavours, catch the campaigns now online and in the press.
